^a President Bush and the Congress were at an impasse and could not reach an agreement on 2009 funding levels, and the House and Senate chose not to pass any appropriations bills until a new President took office in January 2009. For this reason, all programs whose funding is annually appropriated through this process were operating under a continuing resolution at FY 2008 funding levels until the FY09omnibus appropriations bill was enacted in March 2009.

^b President Obama's FY10 Budget eliminates funding for Community-Based Abstinence Education, the mandatory Title V Abstinence Education program, and the Compassion Capital Fund. The Compassion Capital Fund would be replaced by a new Strengthening Communities Fund created through the Recovery Act. Funds are to build the capacity of faith-based and community-based non-profits to serve low-income and disadvantaged populations by expanding service delivery, increasing community access to public benefits, and helping low and moderate income people secure and retain employment.

^c President Obama proposes a new Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative in the FY10 budget to support community-based and faith-based efforts to reduce teen pregnancy using evidence-based and promising models. In addition to funding grants, $110 million would support outreach, training, technical assistance and evaluation, as well as activities to support parents in communicating with their children about teen pregnancy and other high-risk behaviors.

^d Neither the President's FY2010 budget, the House-approved FY10 Labor-HHS Appropriations bill, nor the Senate Appropriations Committee-approved FY 10 Labor HHS bill contains funding for abstinence education. However, the Senate Finance Committee's health reform bill (America's Healthy Future Act) contains a provision that would reauthorize the Title V abstinence education program.

^e The FY10 Budget also seeks authorization for a new $50 million mandatory teen pregnancy prevention grants to States, Tribes, and territories.

^f This program is not subject to annual appropriations. The Senate Finance Committee's health reform (America's Healthy Future Act) creates the Personal Responsibility Education for Adulthood Training Program, which would provide $75 million in mandatory funds each year for FY 2010 through FY 2014 for teen pregnancy prevention programs. If included in the final health reform package, each year, $50 million in formula grants would be available to states for evidence-based teen pregnancy prevention programs. The remaining $25 million would be available for states and communities to fund innovative approaches to teen pregnancy prevention (particularly for working with at-risk youth), tribes, and a national teen pregnancy prevention resource center.

^g In the FY10 Budget, for the $13.1 million for Adolescent Family Life teen pregnancy prevention grants, 75 percent ($9,840,000) shall be for programs that replicate the elements of one or more teenage pregnancy prevention programs that have been proven through rigorous evaluation to delay sexual activity, increase contraceptive use (without increasing sexual activity), or reduce teenage pregnancy, and of which 25 percent ($3,280,000) shall be available for research and demonstration grants to develop, replicate, refine, and test additional models and innovative strategies for preventing teen pregnancy.

^h President's budget proposes state option to expand Medicaid family planning services to non-pregnant women ages 15 – 44 with incomes at or below 200% of poverty. HHS estimates savings no fiscal impact in FY 2010, with $5 million savings between over 5 years (2010-2014) and $65 million savings over 10 years (2010- 2019).

ⁱ Neither the House nor Senate versions of the appropriations bills contain funding for Medicaid family planning, however, both the House and Senate health reform bills contain a provision that would establish a state option to expand Medicaid family planning services up to the state's eligibility level for pregnancy-related care.

^j Neither the House nor the Senate Labor-HHS Appropriations bills contains funding for the Strengthening Communities Fund. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA) provided $50 million through September 30, 2010 for this purpose.

^k An additional $2 billion was provided through ARRA for Community Health Centers

^l President's budget proposes a total of $27 million for child welfare training, including $20 million specifically for projects to improve outcomes for children in long-term foster care. Program will provide upfront funding to implement and sustain evidence-based practice improvements. Grantees demonstrating improvements in child and family outcomes will be eligible to receive bonus funding.

^m CDC will expand its current teen pregnancy prevention efforts to promote evidence-based interventions. CDC's activities will highlight three key strategies: state-based partnerships, national technical assistance, and promoting youth development programs. CDC will fund up to eight additional state-based teen pregnancy prevention coalitions to work with state departments of education to implement innovative science-based prevention programs in youth-serving organizations and schools.

ⁿ The Budget proposes $8.6 billion over ten years for a new mandatory program that provides funds to States for evidence-based home visitation programs for low-income families.

^o This program is not subject to annual appropriations. Both the House (H.R. 3200) and Senate health reform bills each include language which would authorize this program and provide a total of $1.5 billion for the program between FY 2010 and FY 2014.

^p Provides 1-year planning grants to non-profit, community-based organizations to develop plans for comprehensive neighborhood programs that provide the necessary support for children and youth from preschool through college so that they may succeed in school and beyond.

^q Youthbuild also received $50 million in the Recovery Act. See http://www.thenationalcampaign.org/policymakers/PDF/Recovery_Act_Summary_FINAL.pdf

^r Funds included in the FY10 Budget for Youthbuild would be available April 1, 2010 through June 30, 2011 rather than on the standard fiscal year calendar.

^s Within the DOL budget for Pilots, Demonstrations, and Research, $5 million for young parents demonstration program was deleted in FY 2010 President's budget. For FY 2010, the President proposed $50 million to demonstrate and evaluate transitional job program models. Transitional job programs combine short-term subsidized or supported employment with case management services to help individuals with significant barriers to employment obtain the skills needed to secure unsubsidized jobs. A population that the initiative will target for support is noncustodial parents, including young parents. The transitional jobs demonstration will model how services and resources available through the workforce system can be utilized to increase workforce participation of noncustodial parents. DOL will carry out this demonstration collaboratively with other Federal agencies.

^u The Reintegration of Ex-Offenders program funds services to adult ex-offenders, juvenile offenders, and youth at high risk of becoming offenders. Authorized through the Second Chance Act of 2007 and WIA, this program consolidates funding for Prisoner Reentry Initiative (PRI) grants and Youthful Offender grants. The PRI grants, which began in 2004, seek to strengthen urban communities characterized by large numbers of returning prisoners through an employment-centered program that incorporates mentoring, job training, and other comprehensive transitional services. Youthful Offender grants support a set of multi-site demonstrations designed for juvenile and young adult offenders, and youth highly at-risk of involvement in crime and violence.

^v $2.5 billion in mandatory funding over five years to fund national and state efforts to improve college success and completion, particularly for students from disadvantaged backgrounds. This replaces the College Access Challenge grant program.

^w Not subject to annual appropriations. The House-passed version of the Student Aid and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 2009 includes a total of $3 billion in mandatory funds over 5 years ($600 million each year from FY 2010 to FY 2014) for this program.

^x This competitive grant program supports the participation of low-income parents in postsecondary education through campus-based childcare services. The 2010 request would fund 55 new and 119 existing projects.
