

THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN TO PREVENT TEEN PREGNANCY

CELEBRATING A DECADE OF PROGRESS
IN IMPROVING THE LIVES OF CHILDREN,
YOUTH AND FAMILIES

You are Invited...

The National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy invites you to a Forum on Capitol Hill

The Power of Prevention: Building on a Decade of Progress

This event will mark the official launch of the National Campaign's 10th Anniversary year and will recognize the outstanding leaders of our bipartisan Congressional Advisory Panels:

Senator Joseph Lieberman (D-CT)
Senator Olympia Snowe (R-ME)

Representative Michael Castle (R-DE)
Representative Nita Lowey (D-NY)

A panel with members of Congress and teens will be moderated by

David R. Gergen
National Campaign Board Member
Editor-at-Large, U.S. News and World Report

When the National Campaign was founded in 1996, we set a goal to reduce the rates of teen pregnancy by one-third over a decade. Ten years later, it appears that the nation will achieve this goal.

The Forum will discuss what the nation must do to meet the new, ambitious goal that the National Campaign has set for the coming decade:
an additional one-third reduction in the teen pregnancy rate by 2015!

We will also announce the growing list of Corporate and Association Sponsors of the National Campaign's 10th Anniversary Celebration Benefit (September 14th)

Please join us on
Tuesday, May 24, 2005 from 2:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.
In Room 385 of the Russell Senate Office Building

RSVP to Rob Wooley: rwooley@teenpregnancy.org

The National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy is a private, non-profit organization with the mission of improving the lives of children, youth, and families. Since its founding in 1996, the National Campaign has helped the nation produce a one-third decline in teen pregnancy rates. Please visit teenpregnancy.org for more information.
